Dear Ms. Stumbo:

This letter is being written to urge you to oppose another rate increase for LG&E. I work in a church, and due to the economy we are getting more calls than usual from people asking for financial assistance with their LG&E bills. The number of these phone calls will surely escalate during the winter months as well.

My personal opinion is that corporate greed is one of our main problems today. People should not have to choose between medicine, food, home utilities, and increasing transportation costs.

Thank you for considering what I've had to say.

Sincerely,

Karen Peters
